INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

February 6, 2004

To the Board of Directors of Travis Capital, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Travis Capital, Inc. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Travis and Company) as of December 31, 2003 and 2002 and the related statements of operations, shareholder's equity and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Travis Capital, Inc. as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purposes of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedule's I, II, and III is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF BUSINESS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

Travis Capital, Inc. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Travis and Company) (the Company) was incorporated in the state of Utah on January 10, 1985. The Company is an investment banking and financial consulting firm focused on corporate and project finance. The Company is also registered as a securities broker under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company does not hold funds for or carry accounts of customers and, as such, believes it was exempt from the Securities and Exchange Commission's Customer Protection Rule 15c3-3 throughout 2003 and 2002. Effective, January 1, 1999, all outstanding common stock of the Company was acquired by Travis and Company, a Utah corporation.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Office equipment

Office equipment is recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method based on estimated useful lives ranging from three to seven years.

Revenue recognition

Revenue from consulting services and commissions is recognized as the services are performed.

Income taxes

The Company recognizes a liability or asset for the deferred tax consequences of all temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their reported amounts in the financial statements. These temporary differences will result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years when the reported amounts of the assets or liabilities are recovered or settled. The Company is included in the consolidated tax returns of Travis and Company (the Parent Company). See Note 4 for discussion of the income tax sharing agreement with the Parent Company.

NOTE 2 - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS:

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission's Uniform Net Capital Rule 15c3-1 (the Rule), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital. The Company has elected to compute its net capital (as defined) in accordance with paragraph (a) (2) (vi) of the Rule, which requires that net capital be no less than 6-2/3 percent of aggregate indebtedness (as defined), and at least $5,000. Aggregate indebtedness and net capital change daily, but at December 31, 2003, the aggregate indebtedness was $1,751 and the net capital was $17,412, which exceeded minimum net capital requirements by $12,412. Aggregate indebtedness was 18 percent of net capital at December 31, 2003. At December 31, 2002, the aggregate indebtedness was $2,269 and net capital was $14,005 which exceeded minimum net capital requirements by $9,005. Aggregate indebtedness was 45 percent of net capital at December 31, 2002.

NOTE 3 - SIGNIFICANT CLIENTS:

During the year ended December 31, 2003, one client accounted for 86 percent of revenues. During the year ended December 31, 2002, three clients accounted for 99 percent of revenues (each client was more than ten percent, and ranged from 11 to 50 percent). One of these clients is a related party as described in Note 5. At December 31, 2002, substantially all accounts receivable is due from one of these clients.

NOTE 4 - INCOME TAXES:

The income tax (expense) benefit consists of the following:

	Year ended December 31
	2003	2002
Current:
Federal	$(1,111)	$ -
State	_(370)	(100 )
	(1,481)	(100)
Deferred:
Federal	1,194	(45)
State	398	(17)
	1,592	(62 )
Income tax (expense) benefit	$ 111	$(162 )

Deferred income taxes result from temporary differences in the recognition of revenues and expenses for income tax and financial reporting purposes. The temporary differences are related primarily to reporting on a cash basis and using accelerated deprecation rates for income tax reporting purposes.

The Company is included in the consolidated tax returns of the Parent Company. Income taxes are determined as if the Company files its own tax returns. Intercompany allocations of income tax benefit (expense) are recorded as due from (to) Parent - income tax allocation in the accompanying financial statement.

NOTE 5 - RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS:

During the years ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, the Company had revenues totaling $674 and $33,430 from a company in which the owner is also the owner of the Parent Company. This revenue is from a consulting agreement the Parent Company had with this related company beginning August 1, 1999. Also during the year ended December 31, 2003, the Company paid rent totaling $4,000 to this related company. At December 31, 2003, the Company has $5,000 due from a related party. This amount does not bear interest and is due on demand.

NOTE 6 - REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL:

In accordance with certain rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, a report on the Company's internal accounting control was furnished to the Commission. A copy of the report is available for examination at the Company's office or at the regional office of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5(d)(4)

February 6, 2004

To the Board of Directors Travis Capital, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Travis Capital, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2003, we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5 (g) (1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, we have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by Travis Capital, Inc. that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5 (g), in making periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a) (11) and in determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company, (1) in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13; (2) in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; and (3) in obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred above, errors or irregularities may occur and may not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above. In addition, no facts came to our attention indicating that the exemptive provision of Rule 15c3-3 had not been complied with during the year.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our consideration of the internal control structure, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2003 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is not intended to be used and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
